

UNDERSTANDING AND BUILDING OUR WORLD AND OUR STORIES TOGETHER

The McCord Stewart Museum's programs foster an appreciation and understanding of the topics, stories and objects, works of art, cultural goods and documents that make up the Museum's collections. Through participatory approaches and citizen-based perspectives, the Museum's educational programs seek to get visitors involved in their communities to help build a fairer society.

LOOKING AFTER OUR STORIES IN MONTRÉAL/TIOHTIÁ:KE PARTICIPATORY WORKSHOP AT THE MUSEUM

Duration: 45 minutes

Target audience: French learners (French courses for immigrants)

Target learning levels: Levels 6 to 8 (courses 3 and 4)

DESCRIPTION OF THE ACTIVITY

Looking after our stories in Montréal/Tiohtiá:ke is a citizen-centred co-construction workshop that turns a spotlight on the rarely told stories of the Chinese, Afrodescendant and Indigenous communities of Montréal/Tiohtiá:ke. Drawing on tales and snapshots of 19th- and 20th-century Montréal/Tiohtiá:ke from the McCord Stewart Museum's Photography collection, the workshop invites learners to reflect on what contributes to their well-being in the city. A series of magnetized images juxtaposed with urban views will facilitate the reflection. Each participant will share their vision of a Montréal/Tiohtiá:ke in which they feel welcome and discover and find inspiration in the insights expressed by others.

During the workshop, learners will delve into concrete topics from the stories of Montréal's Indigenous, Afrodescendant and Chinese communities in colloquial and specialized language.

Developed in close collaboration with the full-time francization team in the continuing education and corporate training group at Cégep du Vieux Montréal, this workshop is especially adapted to levels 6, 7 and 8 (courses 3 and 4).

Learners will take part in:

- a reading activity with historical facts in specialized language, with less common words and complex sentences, on a concrete topic;
- a conversation in small groups on concrete themes related to the stories of the city's Indigenous, Afrodescendant and Chinese communities; and
- an informal presentation in colloquial language with less common words on concrete topics.
